Frishie to resign as public defender

BY DENA BISNETTE

Hancock County Public Defender William M. Frishie is resigning, effective at the end of October, to become public defender in Washington County.

Frishie was recently appointed to the post by Judge Arthur B. Clark, one of Mississippi's senior Circuit Court judges. He was originally expected to take over his new duties Oct. 1 rather than Nov. 1, but negotiated to move the date due to pending litigation here.

The attorney, who has served as Hancock County's public defender since his appointment in 1982 by Judge Leslie Grant and was appointed to a second term by Judge J. Ruble Griffin, said his considerations in accepting the new appointment included a salary increase as well as how the Washington County public defender's office is organized.

According to Frishie, Washington County has the oldest public defender's position in the state, operated under a local and private bill setting the salary at 90 percent of a Circuit Court judge's salary.

In addition, the Washington County public defender is provided with an assistant and a full-time secretary, as well as the use of the courthouse computer system.

"It is really very well set up," Frishie said.

Frishie, who has been Hancock County's second public defender, will be the second public defender for Washington County.

"I love Hancock County and I really hate to leave. It has been my home for 25 years," the attorney said.

"I hope to retire to the Coast and I plan to continue to maintain a permanent residence in Bay St. Louis," he added.

Frishie is a native of Sturgeon, Mo., and has a juris doctorate from University of Missouri School of Law.

He was admitted to the Missouri Bar in 1956 and to the Illinois Bar in 1960.

He moved to Mississippi in 1962 and worked for the law firm of Russell and Favre prior to taking the Mississippi Bar Examination in 1964 and entering private practice.

Frishie was admitted to the Fifth Circuit Court in 1968 and the Supreme Court of Mississippi in 1975.

While serving as Hancock County public defender, Frishie estimated that he has handled 14 murder or capital murder cases, more than 600 felony indictments, more than 700 Youth Court cases and about 100 lunacies.

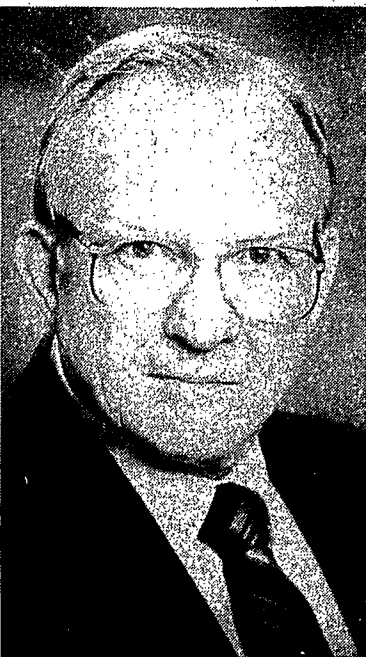

He also served as a city commissioner for Bay St. Louis from 1969 to 1973, handling utilities after Hurricane Camille. In addition, he was elected Justice Court judge to represent Beat Five in 1976, the first year Justice Court judges were elected, and was prominent in the campaign to change the position from a fee system to a salaried job.

In addition, he did the original legal work involved in the creation of the Kiln Water and Fire Protection District and served as attorney for Hancock General Hospital for one year.

His professional memberships include the Hancock County Bar Association, of which he is past president, and the Board of Directors of the Mississippi Public Defenders Association.

He is a former vestryman of Christ Episcopal Church and served for 13 years as a trustee of Christ Episcopal School.

Frishie, a U.S. Army Combat veteran of Korea and a former air observer, has also maintained continuous membership in Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post 139 for the past 20 years.

Board selects new school site near Stennis Airpark, Port and Harbor officials object

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Hancock County School Board voted 3-2 Thursday on a site for the new junior-senior high school.

The site selected is located on the Stennis International Airport access road and adjacent to the Pearl River Vocational School.

A site selection committee appointed by the school board recommended the site following a study of several possible sites for the school.

School Board President Frank Miller said he went along with the recommendation because he knew the committee had been studying the sites and had met with an engineer to review soil boring test results.

Along with Miller, Board Members Lennette Necaise and Barbara Dedeaux voted in favor of the site. Wayne King and Billy Faye Lyons voted nay.

Port and Harbor Commission President Ronald Artigues says the site selected for the school is a potential expansion site of the airport facility.

"I believe there are better sites available for building a school than this one which is near an industrial park and airport in which the county has already invested a lot of money," he said.

"I just don't think it is a good idea to put a junior and senior high school next to an industrial park," he added.

Artigues said the commission is not going to take a stand against the school board and certainly not enter into a bid war for the property pitting one government entity against another.

"We have been talking to the property owners for more than two years about this site but if the school board buys it there is nothing we can do," he said.

Artigues also said he believes the location of a school on the site will be detrimental for any other industry locating in the park because of the excessive amount of traffic associated with a junior and senior high school.

Miller said Saturday he was not aware of the objections by Port and Harbor officials and would be contacting other school board members about the possibility of meeting with the commission to discuss the issue.

The new schools are part of a $6.8 million building project which includes renovations at all schools as well as classroom additions.

The school board rejected a parcel of land donated by the Crump Family for school construction because the site was judged to be unsuitable.

Nov. 3 ballot to include 10 proposed amendments

BY DENA BISNETTE

A 12-page ballot is being prepared for the Nov. 3 General Election.

According to Hancock County Election Commission Secretary Charles Gottchalk, the ballot will be "the biggest ballot we have ever had in Hancock County from day one, according to my research."

Included on the ballot in addition to the state and local races still undecided after recent primaries will be a special school board race with five candidates and 10 proposed amendments to the Mississippi Constitution of 1890.

"I'm worried that people will not look at them ahead of time," Gottchalk said.

"If they don't understand them or don't have time to read them, they will vote against them and a number of the amendments will be defeated even though they are a step in the right direction."

The amendments were passed during the 1987 term of the Mississippi Legislature and are designed mainly to update the constitution.

Amendment No. 1, which is also House Concurrent Resolution No. 7, provides that a person may, in a will executed at least 180 days before his death, bequeath all or part of his estate to a religious, charitable, educational or civil institution except when there is a law creating an exception.

The proposed amendment also affects the amount of time that such an institution may legally hold certain interests in land devised to it.

Amendment No. 2, or House Concurrent Resolution No. 9, requires the legislature to provide for the establishment, maintenance and support of free public schools, but leaves the legislature the authority to set any conditions or limitations on such action.

The proposal would repeal the legislature's authority to establish free public schools and school terms in each county, as well as the authority for abolishment of schools by the legislature, or by counties or school districts authorized by the legislature to do so.

The third proposed amendment, House Concurrent Resolution No. 13, repeals a section of the state constitution that makes marriages between whites and blacks or persons of mixed race unlawful and void.

House Concurrent Resolution No. 19, fourth on the ballot, deletes the provision for a LaBauve Fund Trustee on the Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning, but requires the legislature to appoint a trustee for the fund at University of Mississippi and provides for the fund to continue.

The fund assured University of Mississippi automatic representation on the board, which is not provided for any other college.

The proposed amendment does not limit or remove the legislature's power to change the status of colleges or universities.

Amendment No. 5, also listed as House Concurrent Resolution No. 41, deleted the reference to a county of floridial district in the residency requirement for a member of the State House of Representatives.

It also requires that candidates for House seats be residents of the districts they will serve if elected.

The sixth proposal, Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 534, provides that county or Circuit Court judges may deny bail for any offenses that are punishable by a maximum of 20 years in prison or more or by life imprisonment when there is evident proof or great cause for presumption that releasing the person arrested for that particular offense would constitute a special danger to others or to the community or that there is no reasonable assurance that person will show up for his court appearance.

Amendment No. 7 is also listed as Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 548.

The proposal calls for repeal of a section of the state constitution prohibiting a transportation corporation from issuing stocks and bonds without receiving money, property or labor in return.

The eighth proposal, Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 549, would remove a provision that charters for profit-making corporations be granted for not more than 99 years and deletes a provision for taxation of the increased value of the franchise and property of a corporation with a charter of more than 99 years.

Amendment No. 9, or Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 551, repeals a section of the Mississippi Constitution providing that corporate stockholders may vote his shares of stock for all directors to be elected or may cumulate all his shares for one candidate.

The section to be repealed also contains a provision permitting issuance of preferred stock without any attached voting rights and prohibiting a director from having certain competing business interests.

The final amendment, which is Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 551, calls for repeal of a section of the constitution that provides for all charters granted to private corporations to be recorded in the chancery clerk's office of the county where a corporation's main office or place of business is located.

Capital murder case scheduled for Monday

Trail for Dedeaux native Jeffrey Ladner, 30, charged with capital murder, is scheduled to begin Tuesday in Hancock County Circuit Court.

Circuit Clerk John Rutherford Jr. said motions in the case are scheduled to be heard on Monday, with the jury to be called in on Tuesday.

Ladner is currently an inmate in the Hancock County Jail.

He is accused in the Nov. 11, 1986 shooting deaths of Dorothy G. Tassin and her daughter, Jeannette Holden. Holden was owner-operator of Brass Anchor Lounge on US-90.

Ladner was arrested in Louisiana Nov. 27 and was later extradited to Hancock County.

K-9 service owner offers dog bite demonstration

Mississippi K-9 Service will sponsor a demonstration regarding the bites and jaws of different types of dogs, including pit bulldogs, beginning at 3 p.m. Sunday at the service's training ground on Harbor Drive north of Haywood Spiers Auto Salvage.

According to Mississippi K-9 Service Owner Martin DeSalvo, the demonstration is being presented due to a recent rash of reported pit bull attacks on people.

"I don't want the public to think that all dogs have the same deadly bite as this breed of dog," DeSalvo explained.

During the demonstration, DeSalvo will use protective equipment to show the differences and similarities between the bites of five types of dogs.

In addition to the pit bull, the dogs include a German shepherd, a Doberman pinscher, an Australian shepherd and a rottweiler.

All of the animals to be used in the demonstration are trained working dogs, DeSalvo added.

The public is invited to attend and more information about the demonstration is available at 467-1205.

Card of Thanks

God bless Hancock County.

My family moved to Hancock County 6½ years ago and immediately realized that Hancock County citizens were truly special people.

The warmest, sincerity and friendliness made us realize this is where we wanted to raise our family.

Recently, through my personal tragedy we were reminded of how loving and caring the citizens of this community truly are.

We really appreciate the many cards, flowers and especially the prayers given on my behalf. We will never be able to thank each one personally, for so many were praying whom we don't really know.

We would like to also thank the special generosity of the person at St. Clare.

I would also like to ask for everyone to pray for the individual who shot me. Hopefully through prayer he will change and come to know the Lord himself. He needs our prayers so he can change and become a useful citizen.

Hopefully this individual will read this letter for I would like him to know I have forgiven him. You did almost succeed in leaving my wife a widow with three kids to raise.

You did leave me with over $10,000 in medical bills for such a little amount of money you received in the robbery. Please change and realize your actions can cause much more damage than you realize.

Again, thank you all for your loving support and prayers through our ordeal. You have made us realize again that Hancock County is a truly wonderful place to live.

Sincerely yours,
Russell and Rene

Mississippi students' test scores remain stable

After achieving the largest gain in the nation last year, the performance of Mississippi students on the ACT remains unchanged from last year according to scores released this week.

However, Mississippi once again gained on the rest of the nation since the average of students across the United States dropped.

The average ACT Composite score earned by Mississippi students who graduated in the spring of 1987 and who took the ACT Assessment during their junior or senior year in high school is 16.3, and remains the same as the 1986-87 average. Nationwide, the 1986-87 average Composite is 18.7, down from 18.8 last year.

In releasing the scores, State Superintendent of Education Dr. Richard Boyd says, "Given the fact that the national average dropped this year, I was pleased that we were able to maintain our large increase of last year and consolidate those gains. That is particularly important when you consider that there was an increase in the number of students who took the test this year; when that occurs, there usually is a drop in the average score."

State scores remained relatively stable in the subject areas. No change was made in the Composite score, mathematics or natural sciences. Only a slight decrease was noted in English and Social Studies. The average score in English dropped from 17.4 to 17.3 and in social studies from 14.8 to 14.7.

Mississippi female students' scores remained stable overall, but consistent with the situation nationwide, continue to be well behind male students. Females had an average Composite score of 15.7 while males had 17.2.

There was an increase in the number of Mississippi students taking the ACT for 1987. The ACT was taken by 18,833 students, which accounted for approximately 64 percent of Mississippi high school graduates.

This is one of the highest percentages in the nation, a fact that has an effect on the overall average.

The percentage of students taking the ACT identified by race show that statewide 62 percent are white; 29 percent are black; and two percent are other (American Indian, Oriental, etc.).

About 7 percent of the total group did not identify race.

A positive point is the fact that the percentage of students taking the Act who completed the Institutions of Higher Learning Core requirements increased by two percent over last year to 57 percent.

Students regardless of race or sex, who completed the IHL Core scored higher in all subject areas than those who did not. The highest mean score was achieved in the subject of natural science by white males who completed the IHL Core.

Total Core: English 19.2; Math 16.4; Social Studies 16.7; Natural Science 20.3; Composite 18.3; Number 10,723.

Total Non-Core: English 14.9; Math 10.6; Social Studies 12.1; Natural Science 16.3; Composite 13.6; Number 8,110.

Jail seeking disc donation

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department Farm in Kiln has realized some of its goals through donations, but one particular piece of farm machinery is still being sought.

According to Jail Warden Jim Odom, the farm needs a disc that is either usable as is or is repairable.

The machine should be a six-foot or smaller disc with a three-point hitch, he added.

Anyone who has such a machine and would be willing to donate it to

A comparison of public and non-public school students who have completed the IHL Core requirements shows that white students in public schools scored higher than students in non-public schools in all subject areas.

The Composite for white public school students is 19.9 compared to 19.5 for white non-public school students.

Four percent of the non-public IHL Core completers are Black, while 34 percent of the public school IHL Core completers are Black.

Boyd says he is pleased with the performance of Mississippi students. "Although the Education Reform Act was aimed at students in the early grades, I think that the ACT results demonstrate that we are making progress all along the line. Gains such as we made last year are difficult to maintain, much less improve, but we again gained on the national average, which is our goal."

SAT scores were also released this week. These show Mississippi students continuing to do well on this test. Mississippi students scored 487 on the verbal portion and 521 on the math portion of the ACT. Nationally, average scores were 430 verbal and 476 math. Only 3 percent of Mississippi's high school students take the SAT.

the farm should contact Odom at 467-5101.

The farm, located adjacent to the Beat Four Community Center and behind the county's central maintenance barn off Hwy. 43, is staffed by jail trustees under the guidance of Deputy Leo Ladner.

Work on the farm began this summer and the trustees are currently raising a winter garden of beans and peas. Discing for that crop was supplied by a volunteer.

Any food grown on the farm will be used to help reduce the cost of feeding prisoners at the jail.

Determined Rocks capture third straight win over Long Beach

The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws relied on passing and running, of quarterback Yasin Shabazz and the receiving of flanker Shannon Garrett in carving out a 23-14 win over the visiting Long Beach Bearcats Friday.

Shabazz threw two touchdown passes to Garrett, then added the final score on a five-yard keeper around the right end.

Coach Ken Lyons' Rockchaws piled up 307 yards in total offense, while Coach Larry Ramsey's defense played hard-nosed football in never allowing the Bearcats to sustain deep-scoring drives.

Offensively, the Rocks could only manage three points in the first half, thanks to a 27-yard field goal by Junior Scott Heitzmann.

Long Beach took advantage of two roughing-the-kicker penalties by the Rocks to begin their march to the goal-line.

Quarterback Todd Sims found openings in the Rockchaw secondary and hit split end Kirk Bozzetti for several first downs.

Running back Grant Curtis put Long Beach ahead 6-3 with his one-yard blast with a little over two minutes left in the first half.

Gino Ascani returned the Long Beach kickoff to the SSC 25, but the Rocks could not move the football and had to punt.

A high snap over the head of punter Hank Williams netted Long Beach a safety as Winters had to fall on the ball in the endzone to prevent a Bearcat touchdown.

There were only 26 seconds left in the half after the safety and Long Beach led 8-3.

The Rocks regrouped at halftime and came back ready to play football in the third quarter.

Long Beach kicked off to the Rocks, where deep back Gino Ascani followed the blockers in the wedge for a nice return back to midfield.

On first down Shabazz threw deep to Joe Gex who was behind the Long Beach secondary. Gex was brought down at the Bearcat nine-yard line.

An illegal use of hands penalty against the Rocks moved them back, but three plays later, on a crucial third and goal from the 13, Shabazz found Shannon Garrett between three Bearcat defenders. Garrett's strong hands and good timing enabled him to slice between his defenders and grab the touchdown pass.

The Rocks went for two, but the incomplete pass kept the score SSC 9, Long Beach 8.

Long Beach took over at their 37 and tried to sustain a drive. But the hard-hitting Rockchaw defense began to establish themselves.

Led by defensive lineman Tracey Koller, who spent most of the evening in the Long Beach backfield, the Rockchaw defense forced Curtis to fumble and SSC's Vincent Bradley recovered at the SSC 31-yard line.

There was plenty of aggressive hitting taking place on the scrimmage line. John Baxter, who had recovered a Long Beach fumble in the first quarter, clogged up his side of the defensive line.

Meanwhile, Craig Sweeney and Jim Bradley's numbers were called often in the evening for making tackles.

Facing a third and ten, the Rocks executed a screen pass to Ascani who brought the ball into Long Beach territory.

Shabazz then went to the air and found Shannon Garrett deep across the middle. Garrett was well covered but outmuscled his opponent for the ball and ran in for the score. Heitzmann's extra point was good, and the Rocks increased their lead to 16-8.

The Bearcats were still only one scoring strike away from tying the game. They got a big play from QB Todd Sims who was spun around behind the line by the charging Rockchaw defense. Sims managed to break free and race 45 yards down to the SSC 21-yard line.

Several plays later Sims found Bozzetti open for the touchdown, and the Bearcats closed to 16-14 with 25 seconds left in the third quarter.

Coach Paul Magee of the Bearcats elected to kick the single extra point, but movement on the line brought the ball back to the 8-yard line. A two-point rollout pass attempt was no good.

It was anyone's game at this point. Both squads were in good physical condition and ready to play hard for the last 12 minutes.

After Ascani returned the Long Beach kickoff to the SSC 34, Shabazz hit Freddie Wirstrom for a 16-yard gain to midfield.

A holding penalty brought the ball back 15 yards, but Shabazz went back to Wirstrom for an 18-yard gain. Ascani then picked up 11 more around right end.

Shabazz continued to show his field generalship, finding Garrett in the seam of the Bearcat defense for a 13-yard gain. But the Rocks stalled at the 34-yard line and the Bearcats took over.

The Rocks defense toughened, but on third and 13, Sims found Jamie Campbell deep behind SSC cornerback Andre Rollins and the Bearcats were threatening at the SSC 10-yard line.

There were four minutes left in the contest, and if Long Beach could punch it over, the Bearcats could take the lead.

Credit Koller, Bradley, Sweeney, and the entire SSC defense with pushing the Bearcats back and forcing a field goal that was wide right.

The Rockchaw offense knew they had to maintain possession for the final four minutes and advance the ball into Bearcat territory.

Coach Lyons called on fullback Jorge Ponjuan, who up to this point spent the evening opening holes for Ascani and Shabazz with his fine blocking. Ponjuan took the inside handoff, broke through the line, and 63 yards later was pushed out of bounds at the Long Beach 10-yard line with 2:45 left in the game.

Three plays later Shabazz iced the game on a 5-yard keeper around right end. Heitzmann's extra point closed out the scoring, as the Rocks took their third straight victory, 23-14.

Next Friday St. Stanislaus travels to Hancock North Central to face Coach Irvin Favre's Hawks. Kickoff is 7:30 p.m.

It's Hard To Live Comfortably With Dinosaurs.

Replace Your Old Air Conditioner And Gas Furnace With The Electric Heat Pump.

Having a dinosaur of an old air conditioning unit outside and a prehistoric gas furnace inside can be very uncomfortable. It's also sending your energy bills through the roof. You should cool your home this summer with a high-efficiency electric heat pump. It provides a constant, even cooling in your home, unlike draftier stop-and-go air conditioners. Heat pumps are also quieter, more economical and heat homes in winter. So ditch those dinosaurs. Replace them with the modern, energy-efficient electric heat pump.

Everyone seems to be enjoying the recent cooler mornings.

This is the time of year when many folks begin to get their lawns in shape for winter.

Several folks are getting their fall gardening underway, both flowers and vegetables.

A little rain in the next few days would be a big help.

It seems we do need a little rain because lawns are even beginning to tan.

The kick-off breakfast for the United Way of Hancock County had the largest crowd we have witnessed. We have been to just about every one the fund raising organization has had since the United Way began in Hancock County.

One of the reasons for the success of the kickoff has to be for the many hours of planning on behalf of so many folks.

Their work is appreciated by the community, and with the help of everyone a goal of $65,000 will be reached.

The United Way reaches so many people of all ages in Hancock County.

To the many supporters of the United Way of Hancock County we would like to say thank you.

We for sure want to thank everyone who got up a little earlier on Friday for the kickoff.

Payroll deductions play an important role in helping the United Way obtain the necessary funds to continue serving the many agencies that provide so much help to so many people.

The officers, directors, campaign chairman, co-chairmen and volunteers say thank you, too.

On the football scene, freshman quarterback Brett Favre has been the topic of discussion this week in Hancock County as well as elsewhere in Mississippi.

The signal caller for the University of Southern Mississippi Golden Eagles was right on target in guiding his college team to a come-from-behind victory over Tulane Saturday a week ago.

We know his father and family are very proud of his achievements.

Just think, Brett was playing at Hancock North Central last season, and college football is a big advance, especially for a quarterback.

There are only a very few high school quarterbacks who make it at the college level as signal callers.

Good luck, Brett, in the years to come.

AIDS and cancer

AIDS—the word alone strikes dread into many people.

Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome has already claimed over 19,000 lives in the United States alone. Although there are a number of promising treatments, there is still no cure.

The cause of AIDS appears to be a virus called HIV. But there is a mystery about AIDS as well. A hundred people are infected with this virus for every one who succumbs to the illness.

Scientists supported by the National Foundation for Cancer Research (NFCR) are investigating the puzzling phenomenon. Their belief is that another virus may be needed to simultaneously attack the victim for full-scale AIDS to develop.

This other virus may be HCMV (human Cytomegalovirus), a member of the Herpes family. This virus has also been linked to several forms of cancer.

Dr. Leonard Rosenthal, NFCR

project director at Georgetown University, is investigating the link between the two viruses in AIDS victims and in those who have been infected by HIV but have not yet succumbed to the disease.

The result could be an important step forward in understanding AIDS, and cancer as well.

The National Foundation for Cancer Research is a private, non-profit organization based in Bethesda, Md.

With the help of donors nationwide, it has allocated more than $50 million to basic cancer research over the last decade.

Senior Discount Program growing

Approximately 50,000 elderly Mississippians and more than 2,500 merchants across the state are now participating in the Magnolia State Golden Age Discount Program which allows senior citizens to save money on consumer goods.

The discount program, funded by the Mississippi Council on Aging (MCOA) of the Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs, has expanded to include the counties in Golden Triangle, North Central and Three Rivers planning and development districts.

The program, designed to provide citizens 60 and older with discounts on food, medicine, clothing, utility payments and other cash outlays, has been available in the seven other planning and development districts since last year.

"Many of our senior citizens living on fixed incomes find it increasingly difficult to purchase necessary goods and services," said MCOA Director Dr. David K. Brown.

"We recognize a need to establish a statewide senior discount program that would increase the buying power and independence of the elderly in our state. Such a program, we have found, benefits the elderly and participating merchants and improves the state's economy."

The number of businesses involved in the statewide program is increasing, according to MCOA, and most agree that their participation is profitable to them and their senior consumers.

Al Waggoner, Jackson's Pizza Hut district manager, said his company offers senior citizens a discount on purchases because it's an accommodation to them and good business for Pizza Hut.

Wendy's of Jackson also participates in the program. "I've noticed that more and more senior citizens are using the Magnolia State discount card in the store," said Lee Hammond, owner.

Keith Brown, partner and manager of the Golden Corral in Clinton, has recently placed the program's decal in windows at his steak house. More and more people, he said, started to ask if he honored the discount card.

Hunter Roussell, owner of two Western Sizzlin' steak houses in Jackson, said he, too, was prompted to join the program because so many of his customers were asking if he honored the discount cards. "We're getting requests in all the time," he said.

Another eatery, Popeyes Famous Fried Chicken & Biscuits Inc. recently decided to display decals in all of its 24 stores. Mickey Terrell, a vice president at Popeyes, said, "We're glad to do anything for senior citizens. We think it's good business for us."

The Prescription Cabinet Inc. in the County Market in Jackson and K&B Drugs in Metrocenter also offer senior citizens discounts on their medicine. Carroll Wayne Carpenter, manager, said the Prescription Cabinet is glad to participate in the program and offers elderly persons a 10 percent discount.

John Rowley, K&B Drugs' manager, said the program is a good way for merchants to show appreciation for their older customers. "It helps senior citizens increase their buying power and get more of the items they need."

It's good for all who participate—merchants and senior citizens. We're glad to help in any way we can," he added.

Senior citizens 60 and older may enroll in the discount program by contacting the planning and development district in their area or the Governor's Service Line, toll-free at 354-4542 in the Jackson area or 1-800-222-7622 from other areas of the state. Merchants interested in the program may call the same numbers.

Senior citizens who enroll will be issued a standardized multi-colored senior discount card, certifying their age and eligibility, which can be used with any participating merchant. Merchants involved in the program may determine the percentage of discount they will offer and will display poster-sized senior discount emblems in windows and stores alerting persons of their participation. They also will list items to be discounted, days discounts are offered and any exceptions.

Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

Millions of Americans celebrated the bicentennial of the signing of the U.S. Constitution last week, marking the beginning of a three-year commemoration of the founding of our nation.

When the framers of the Constitution gathered in Philadelphia in the summer of 1787, our young country was in turmoil. The 13 colonies had emerged from the American Revolution as one nation, but the years following the war saw the states grow farther and farther apart due to the weak government set up under the Articles of Confederation.

The need for a stronger government was apparent and so the delegates traveled to Philadelphia to rewrite the Articles. When they left, they had abandoned the Articles and written a Constitution that serves the nation today.

The Constitution wasn't perfect, as the delegates realized, but it contained procedures for changes as the years showed the original flaws. The oldest governing document in the world has been amended only 26 times.

This country was founded by individuals who had been denied their rights in another land. It is the United States Constitution that guarantees that these rights will not be denied again.

The celebration of the Constitution's drafting and signing this year, the ratification next year, and the establishment of the government in 1989 give time for important reflection on this important document.

In effect, our nation celebrates the Constitution every day—at work and at play—taking advantage of the freedoms it allows and fulfilling the duties it encourages.

IN CONGRESS

By Cong. Trent Lott

A call to restore deliberative democracy in the Congress

I was among a group of Members of Congress who chose Sept. 17—the 200th anniversary of the Constitution—to make the point that the discarding of the budget procedure and the abuse of rules in the House of Representatives is disenfranchising people and their representatives from the legislative process.

The House of Representatives is arrogant in many ways and out of control. It must get back to a straight, honest, normal budget procedure and stop violating its own rules such as is the case when any Congressman is prohibited from offering amendments to legislation.

An example is the farm credit bill which was scheduled for consideration the week of Sept. 20. The Rules Committee limited the number of amendments which could be offered to this bill and limited the time of debate for those few amendments allowed and for the bill as a whole.

The shame of these restrictions is that this is major legislation affecting farmers all over America. It involves billions of dollars in continuing the agricultural lending system and even the creation of secondary market for farm mortgages. I am for the concept of restructuring the farm credit system in America, and I support the idea of the secondary market.

But there is some controversy with this legislation including concerns over how the program would be administered and what protections would be built into the bill to guard against fraud.

When the Rules Committee closes off debate and prevents individual Congressmen from addressing these concerns or repairing faulty policy in legislation, it makes it difficult for us to do our job on the floor of the House of Representatives.

Since the 100th Congress convened in January, the Rules Committee has reported out closed or restrictive rules for 43 percent of the bills it sent to the floor. That means the Committee either prevented any amendments to legislation considered by the full House or restricted the number of amendments and debate time in some fashion.

That figure compares to 10 years ago when only 12 percent of the rules fashioned by the Committee were restrictive.

The abuse of process compromises the quality of legislation passed by the House of Representatives. When Congress evades the responsibility of voting on each bill separately by rolling many bills into one—as has been done regularly with the 13 spending bills needed to continue government programs—it becomes unaccountable to the American people for its actions.

When it fails to follow the very laws it passes, like the budget resolution, it is arrogantly exempting itself from the laws which govern the rest of the nation.

On Sept. 17, what many of us in the House were calling for was a return to the rights and privileges provided by the Constitution. Today's house of Representatives is a far cry from the ideal of a people's chamber set forth in Philadelphia 200 years ago.

As we told the Speaker of the House, it is time to restore the government which the Founding Fathers provided. Back then we were warned that we had been GIVEN a Republic—if we could keep it. We must keep it. We must reform the Congress.

United States Senator

Appropriations panel approves funds for interior, Mississippi projects

Senator Thad Cochran says the Interior subcommittee on Appropriations has reported out over $488 million for agencies and projects of interest to Mississippians.

The Senator noted the FY 1988 funding bill approved by the panel on which he serves includes money for construction on the Natchez Trace Parkway, rebuilding a Choctaw Indian school, constructing a marine mineral technology center off the Gulf Coast, and energy research at Mississippi State University.

"This bill includes some important funding for programs and projects vital to the progress and development of Mississippi," Senator Cochran said following the panel's action.

Included in the bill are the following:

$22.77 million for National Park Service construction work on the Natchez Trace Parkway.

$1.2 million for the Bureau of Mines for construction of a marine minerals technology center off the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Half the funds will go to the University of Mississippi and half to the University of Hawaii in the joint venture.

$6.4 million to the Bureau of Indian Affairs for construction, including building facilities to replace the Choctaw Indian School near Philadelphia destroyed by fire in 1986.

$35 million to the Department of Energy for energy research in magnetohydrodynamics (MHD), including the MHD research program at Mississippi State University.

$35 million for the Land and Water Conservation Fund, which provides matching grants to the states.

$73.9 million for state and private forestry, including $5 million for Senator Cochran's forestry marketing initiative program. Three-fourths of all forestry land in Mississippi is privately owned.

$34 million for the National Trust for Historic Trust, with nearly $29 million of this in grants to the states.

Also, the Interior funding bill for next year allocates $140 million to the National Endowment for the Arts, $112.2 million to the National Endowment for the Humanities, $4.5 million to the National Capital Arts and Cultural Affairs, and $21.9 million for the Institute of Museum Services.

On Saturday, Oct. 17 the Air Force's Band, the Blue Edition, brings its big band sound to the Budweiser Pavilion at 12:15 p.m. while Dixieland Jazz, also an Air Force Band, performs at 3 p.m. in the R. J. Reynolds Theatre.

A United Way Agency

Red Cross provides emergency shelters, blood bank services, military aid

Editor's note: Following is the tenth in a series of articles being presented by the Sea Coast Echo on agencies which are partially funded by the United Way of Hancock County. The local United Way 1987 fundraising drive is currently underway. Lonnie Clayborn of Waveland is chairman of this year's drive. The goal is $65,000.

The Red Cross helps with emergency needs for all disasters, whether it is a hurricane, flood, tornado, chemical spill, etc.

If the Civil Defense deems it necessary, the red cross will open and manage disaster shelters for as long as needed.

The Red Cross blood services supply the Hancock County Hospital with all blood and blood products processed at the lab in Mobile, Ala. The emergency assistance program through Mississippi Power is administered by the red cross. This is for Mississippi Power customers over 65 or those on disability.

Twenty four hour service is provided for anyone needing to contact a family member in the military, nights and weekends being for emergencies only.

A Red Cross representative at 467-7609 is available Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. for information and is working at present to get volunteers trained in disaster.

The Red Cross teaches CPR, first aid, and swimming in the safety services program. Swimming classes are taught at St. Stanislaus, St. Clare and Diamondhead.

Jeannie Garcia is the Hancock County representative and can be reached at 467-7609.

Claggett named to public library task force

Elizabeth Claggett of Diamondhead has been appointed to the Mississippi Public Library Task Force, according to David Woodburn, director of the Mississippi Library Commission.

The Public Library Task Force will examine the current patterns of library funding, provisions for establishing and organizing public libraries and public library systems and the current patterns of library cooperation and resource sharing in Mississippi.

The task force will assess alternatives and will recommend a plan to provide for strong financial support of public libraries, for clear definition of how public libraries are established and organized and for a framework for library cooperation and resource sharing.

"We are pleased that Elizabeth Claggett has agreed to serve on this important committee," said Woodburn. "She brings with her knowledge, expertise, and a commitment to public libraries which will greatly contribute to the task force."

Claggett, a member of the Hancock County Library System Board of Trustees is a graduate of Smith College and has served on numerous boards including the board of trustees of Lake Forest (Illinois) County Day School and the board of the League of Women Voters.

In addition, she served on the board of trustees of Allendale School for Boys and the Chicago Board of Planned Parenthood.

Super Collider proposal advances

Mississippi's proposal for location of the superconducting Super Collider project in northeast Mississippi has met preliminary requirements by the U.S. Department of Energy and has been forwarded to a special committee of scientists and engineers who will now conduct an in-depth evaluation of the proposals.

Senator John Stennis said he was notified by the Secretary of Energy last week that the Mississippi proposal is among 36 of the original 43 proposals which cleared the preliminary screening. Those 36 sites will now be studied by a special panel composed of 15 scientists and engineers appointed by the National Academy of Sciences and National Academy of Engineering.

"This process is moving forward now, with a recommendation by the panel of the most excellent proposals due by the end of the year," Stennis said. "The panel will be responsible for giving the Department of Energy a small set of proposals from which the site will be selected in July of next year."

The Mississippi proposal calls for location of the 53-mile circular underground tunnel in the Golden Triangle area including Oktibbeha, Lowndes, Noxubee and Clay counties. The $4.4 billion project is expected to create 4500 jobs during construction and 2500 permanent jobs.

A Stennis amendment adding $10 million to the 1988 budget for advanced planning on the project has been approved by the Senate Appropriations committee chaired by Stennis. "It is essential that we continue to move ahead on a fast schedule with development of this project which has so much promise for our nation's future in the field of high energy physics," Stennis said. "It pleases me to see the entire process underway and on schedule at this time, and we will work to keep it on that track."

GCRL scientists present botany paper

Two scientists from the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs attended the Water Quality and Wetlands Management Conference held in New Orleans on Sept. 24-25.

Dr. Lionel N. Eleuterius and John D. Caldwell of the Botany Section presented a paper entitled "Panicum amarum (Beach Panicum): the ideal plant for sand beach stabilization and dune building."

The conference was sponsored by the Louisiana Environmental Professionals Association and was hosted by the University of New Orleans.

ques of the native coastal plant and showed how transplants were field tested for erosion control and dune building capability.

The plant has the peculiar ability to produce roots at nodes along the vertical stems as sand builds up around the plant.

The long term study represented ten years of research and funded in part by the Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army, Mobile District. Details of the work were also published in the conference Proceedings, a volume which was available at the registration desk.

Hancock Hawks down Pirates, 51-0

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Hancock North Central Hawks defeated the Pass Christian Pirates Friday 51-0 in the Pirate stadium.

Hawk Head Coach Irvin Favre complimented the entire Hancock football team saying he is very pleased with the performance of the team as a whole.

"But my hat's off to the entire defensive unit, giving up on 48 yards in an entire game is one heck of a defensive effort," Favre said.

"The B-team played part of the third quarter and during the fourth quarter and I am also proud of these players, who scored three touchdowns," he added.

"We had a well-rounded good game with offense, defense and special teams doing real well," Favre said.

"The only thing I am not pleased with is the way we missed several extra point attempts," he said.

In first downs, the Hawks doubled the number the Pirates gained with Hancock getting 12 and Pass Christian, six.

The Hawks offense had a total of 329 yards with 201 rushing and 128 passing. The Pirates has a total offense of 48 yards.

Hancock completed three of nine passes with one interception. The Pirates completed two of 10 passes with four interceptions.

The Pirates recovered three of three Hawk fumbles and fumbled five times losing only two.

Pass Christian punted the ball six times with a 27-yard average. The Hawks had no punts.

Terrence Goff was the leading rusher and scorer for Hancock North Central with 46 yards and three touchdowns.

Clifton Carter came in second with 41 yards in seven carries. Donald Vince and Vincent Cuevas had 38 and 11 rushing yards, respectively.

Both teams received only four penalties each during the games with the Hawks losing 60 yards and the Pirates being penalized 30 yards.

Goff began the scoring for Hancock North Central in the first quarter with a five-yard run. The extra point kick was no good.

Corey Blaize scored next with a 60-yard touchdown catch in the end-zone from Quarterback Jeff Moran.

Moran hit Vincent Cuevas to add to the score in a two-point conversion.

In the second quarter Goff scored twice. The first touchdown was on a 25-yard run. The extra point kick was no good.

Next he returned a punt 45 yards to score the final points of the first half. Again the extra point was no good.

Half time score was Hancock 26, Pass Christian, 0.

Moran connected with Tirus Jackson early in the third quarter for a 20-yard touchdown. The extra point was no good.

Guy Graham also scored in the third quarter on a 13-yard run. The extra point kick by Larry Beech was good.

In the fourth quarter Heath

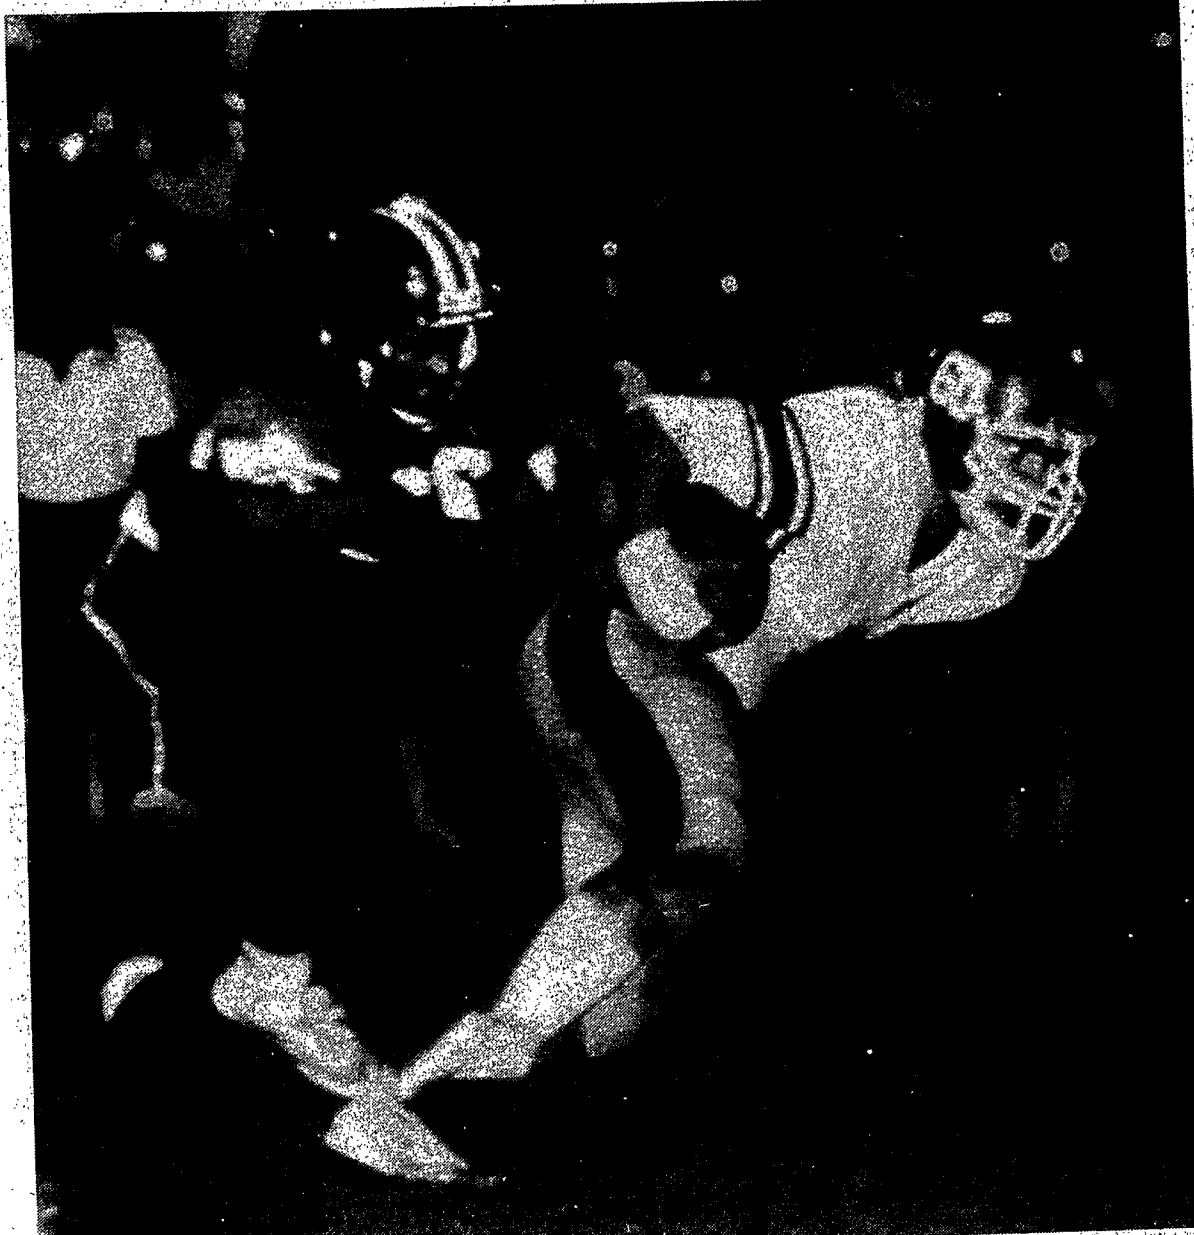

Necaise scored on a 10-yard run. The extra point kick was no good.

The final Hancock North Central score was by Clifton Carter on 1-yard run. Again the extra point kick was no good.

The Hawks next game will be Oct. 2 at home when they host the Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws for Homecoming.

Favre says the Rocks have one of the best teams they have had in several years and this will be a "tremendous" game.

Kickoff in the Hawk stadium will be at 7:30 p.m.

Tigers over Vancleave, 34-7

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Bay High Tigers won their third game of the season Friday with a 34-7 score over the Vancleave Bulldogs.

Tiger Coach Cleveland Williams says this was the first time the team really came out in the first quarter and played good football.

"The offense had a good night particularly in the first half, coming off the ball real good after the snap," he said.

Williams also praised the "unsung heroes" on the offensive line.

"The offensive linemen including Jerry Island, Travis Haynes, Heath Hoppood, Dorel Nichols, Derrain Washington and Lance Belle did a tremendous job," he added.

The team had a balanced attack and the game plan worked, Williams said.

"Each week the team is getting a little better and things are beginning to gel as the young players learn more and more what to do," he said.

Scoring for the Tigers started in the first quarter with a 60-yard touchdown run by Brian Langaux. Joel Duncan kicked the extra point.

In the second quarter Quarterback Chad LaFontaine connected with Doug Rhodes for a 22-yard touchdown pass. The extra point by Duncan was good.

Langaux scored again on a 22-yard run and Duncan added the extra point.

Third quarter action included another TD by Langaux from the 41-yard line. Extra point by Duncan was good.

The final score was a 34-yard touchdown pass collected by Ricky Whavers.

Next week the Tigers will host East Central for Homecoming.

Coast garden clubs emphasize Pilgrimage rules

The Coast Council of Garden Clubs has finished preliminary plans for its Annual Spring Pilgrimage April 7.

A few changes have been made to clarify certain rules to insure conformity throughout the coast. The include:

"5. The Spring Pilgrimage will be 'free'. No fees may be collected and donations will not be requested of pilgrimage guests. However, items which the Garden Clubs normally sell, i.e. stationery, pictures, calendars, etc. may be sold to benefit the Garden Clubs only. No refreshments may be sold."

"7. Homes and gardens are to be highlighted on the pilgrimage with emphasis placed on historic homes and landmarks. No commercial places such as restaurants, hotels, motels, bakery shops, antique stores, etc. should be included on the tour.

This does not preclude from the tour, historic buildings, government complexes, industrial sites, etc. which are of community interest but prohibits those commercial establishments which are sales oriented."

"9. In addition to the regular contributors to the pilgrimage, restaurants, antique shops, etc., which are appropriate to the Spring Pilgrimage will be asked to advertise in the brochure with a two-line listing. Those advertisers may also request fliers (supplied at their own expense) to be distributed with the brochures in their location on the tour."

Quote from transmittal letter: "...

please collect in advance the $25 fee for the two-line advertisement, which will appear in the brochure. We will need name, address and phone number of the business. "Other contributions are also encouraged: Sponsors - $50 and Patrons - $100."

If you are interested in advertising in the brochure or otherwise support our effort in the Spring Pilgrimage, please fill out the attached form and mail to: Bay Waveland Garden Club, Pilgrimage Chairman: John Newkirk, 635 N. Beach Waveland, MS 39576, or call 467-9821.

Anyone interested in showing property, home, or garden or know of anyone who is, contact the Chairman.

Bay-Waveland Garden Club

The Bay-Waveland Garden Club met Thursday, Sept. 10 at the Garden Center, 114 Leonhard Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

The meeting was called to order by the vice president, Mrs. Thomas B. Murphree, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Thomas Tompkins.

Mrs. Clarence Evans introduced two new members, Mrs. William Rotherham and Mrs. Larry Burrows. Mrs. Evans also proposed several changes to the club's by-laws, designed to boost new membership for the club. Plans for the flower show to be held at the Hancock County Fair, were also discussed.

Mrs. William Ose reported 40 members and three guests in attendance. Guests were Mrs. Ruth Becker, Mrs. Jeanne Clements and Mrs. Alice Brameyer.

Mrs. Alice Newkirk gave an interesting talk on the Aspidistra, more commonly known as the Cast Iron Plant.

Mrs. David Los Calzo spoke on the Whooping Crane and told how, through excellent care in sanctuaries their number has increased from only 16 in 1941 to more than 100 at the present time.

Mrs. John Holmes surprised everyone by telling of a windfall that the Garden Club has received from Mrs. Aida Yates in the form of a plot of ground called Clower Thornton Park. This land will be kept in its wild state and is accessible by many paths suitable for hiking or nature walks.

This month's floral arrangements were placed in the Bay St. Louis Library by Mrs. A. S. Kleinpeter and in the Waveland Library by Mrs. George Baud.

The Garden of the Month Award was given to Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Bergeron Jr., 401 Main Street, Bay St. Louis. The Commercial beautification Award remains at the Waveland City Hall.

Guest speaker Mrs. Alice Brameyer from the Diamondhead Garden Club, is planning two flower show workshops on Oct. 7 and 14. They are open to any member interested in learning about floral arrangements.

Mrs. Clarence Evans introduced a new monthly project, the silent auction of a plant. This month's plant was a lovely Fireball Bromeliad.

Refreshments were provided by Mrs. W. P. Hilliker and her hostesses. Future projects include the grounds around the new post office and the courtyard of the new Hancock Medical Center.

The October 8 meeting will be held at 3 p.m. and members were asked to bring items for the Food Pantry.

Diamondhead Garden Club

The Diamondhead Garden Club met at the Community Center on Wednesday, Sept. 16. Guests and two new members, Mrs. Theodore Godard and Mrs. A. S. Marshall, were introduced. The budget for 1987-1988 was approved and yearbooks were distributed.

President Mrs. Strabo Claggett called special attention to the announcement of the club's annual picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Finley on Oct. 7 at 6 p.m. This will be a potluck supper with members bringing a covered dish. Husbands are welcome.

Mrs. George Kollash announced that there would be a rummage sale for the benefit of the Diamondhead Academy. Children's and adults' T-shirts will be sold with profits going to the Academy also.

Mrs. Jean Keen, Spanish Trail district director, announced that there would be a Spanish Trail District Awards luncheon at "The Cornerstone" in Picayune on Oct. 8. A tour of the Crosby Arboretum will be given in the afternoon.

Pilgrimage report was given by Mrs. Eckert, who said that four homes had been secured to date, and reminded members that they would need to act as hostesses, if asked, for homes the day of the event, April 8, 1988.

Garden-of-the-Month was awarded to Bob and Dusty McBee.

Mrs. Clarence A. Evans gave a report of the flower show, which will again this year be held in conjunction with the Bay-Waveland Garden Club at the County Fair on Nov. 4-8. She gave a list of those members who had agreed to be committee chairmen. Mrs. Jan Brameyer, schedule chairman, distributed schedules and announced that there would be two workshops for the flower show, one on Oct. 7 and one on Oct. 14 at the home of Mrs. Dixie Ogden. She told members they were to bring their own containers and plant material and be prepared to work on designs for the show.

Announcement was made of a Horticulture Workshop that will be given by John Davis, area horticulture specialist, at the Baptist Church in Diamondhead Oct. 8 from 7 to 9 p.m. Further information may be obtained by calling 467-5456. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Darlene Underwood in order to be sure Mr. Davis brings enough work kits for all those attending.

Mrs. Carol Bustetter, horticulture chairman, reminded members that the Diamondhead Garden Club's constitution requires all members to enter at least one horticultural specimen in the annual flower show. She then introduced Mrs. Chester Partridge, who spoke on important things to be done in September and early October, as digging and drying gladiolus corms and cladium bulbs, and cleaning off all dirt before storing in a cool dry place for the winter. Most other bulbs need to be refrigerated from 5 to 6 weeks before planting in November or December; lawns need feeding and deep watering and potted plants should be cleaned up before bringing indoors. Members of the club were told by Mrs. Partridge that they can be the recipients of a monthly newsletter put out by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, Dunbar Avenue, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520, by writing and requesting their name be put on the mailing list.

Members were given a tour of their new Garden Center, a room in the Community Center, where they now have a place for their books and records. Mrs. Clarence A. Evans donated a "Complete Garden Encyclopedia," which includes 12 volumes.

The program was given by Mrs. Kenneth Ernst, a nationally accredited flower show judge, whose topic was "How to Set a Beautiful Table." She had set up five tables, using her own china, linen and crystal, with appropriate floral centerpieces. They were a delight to see, and since "Tables" is one of the categories in the Design Section of the coming flower show, her comments were most interesting to the members. Mrs. Claggett thanked the hostesses, Mrs. Chris Arnos and Mrs. William Wild, for the delicious refreshments.

She is the author of "Let's Teach Flora," which received two national awards, and the cookbook, "All This Began With Chinaberries," which has over 450 recipes in it. She is a master judge, a landscape design critic, and past president of the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs, Inc.

Mrs. Blanchard was a member of the National Council Board of Directors from 1960 to 1973 and is the founder of High School Gardeners. She is chairman of the William Bartram Conference, meeting in Pensacola, Fla. Oct. 19 and 20.

The Bartram Trail Confederacy began in 1973 in Congressional Committees through a feasibility study of eight states, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Tennessee. It was signed into law by President Ford in October 1976 and funded by a bill signed by President Carter in May 1977. Their objective is to get citizens interested in identifying flora and fauna, conserving natural beauty, air and water, and exchanging knowledge among the states included in the confederacy.

The public is invited to visit the William Bartram Wildflower Garden and Arboretum on Minge Avenue in Pass Christian. It is sponsored by the Pass Christian Garden Club.

DAV Auxiliary

(Submitted by Dr. Esther Oschman, Patriotic Instructor for the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary for the state of Mississippi).

September is a very eventful and historical month of the year. On Sept. 3, 1783, the representatives of the United States and England, after long negotiations, signed a treaty of peace ending the Revolutionary War.

Then the Constitution of the United States universally regarded as the finest expression ever made by the determination of a free people to govern themselves and protect their liberty, was signed on Sept. 17, 1987 by the delegates to the convention called to draft it.

George Washington was the president of the convention and Benjamin Franklin, James Madison, James Wilson, Alexander Hamilton, Governor Morris and other distinguished men of that time were among the delegates.

The constitution was ratified by the required number of states. There was considerable criticism of the Constitution as drafted by the convention in 1787 because it did not afford sufficient protection to the rights of individuals and the states.

In order to meet these objections it was agreed that amendments to the Constitution would be submitted for ratification after the original drafts had been approved.

Accordingly, at the first session of the first Congress at New York on Sept. 25, 1789, 12 amendments were voted and submitted to the states. Two of them relating to apportionment of representatives and to the pay of congressmen, were rejected. The other ten were duly ratified and are now known as The Bill of Rights. They guarantee, among other things, freedom of religion and speech, the right of people to assemble peaceably, the right of private property, and the right of trial by jury, they forbid cruel or unusual punishment and the exaction of excessive bail and they provide that the power not delegated to the United States nor prohibited by the states "are reserved to the states respectively or to the people."

"Thus it was established that the United States was a confederation of independent sovereignties which has formed a central government with defined and limited powers."

So far as the Constitution is concerned, it has demonstrated again and again its capacity for adaptation to the most challenging new conditions. The American constitutional system is in the great tradition which places the fundamental law above the will of government. They speak of liberty and of the struggles and sacrifices by which liberty was won. To all the world they proclaim the glory of a nation created not to make its leaders strong but to make its people free. And to all Americans they hold a message vital in its importance, compelling in its urgency. Freedom is never permanently secured. By each generation it must be defended anew. Always its price remains eternal vigilance. Always this preservation demands faith, valor and sacrifice. Hold high the light of liberty.

God bless the United States of America; long may it live in peace and glory.

New member Reva E. Huber, who is a retired naval World War I veteran, was welcomed.

Fallo reported on recent National World War I convention held in Oklahoma City with National Senior Vice President Helen Arnold elected president for the coming year. She also reported there are at present 181,734 World War I veterans from an original 4,744,000.

A letter of appreciation from chief of Volunteer Service at the VA Medical Center was read, thanking the auxiliary for the comfort items furnished, and praising VAVS representative Genevieve Cole and deputy Clara Arnold for their services.

The Harrison County Salon No. 218 of the 8 and 40 met at the American Legion Home No. 119 on Courthouse Road, Gulfport, on Thursday, Sept. 17 with Mrs. Lou Wilkerson presiding due to illness of Chapeau Evelyn Burns.

The meeting was opened according to ritual with the opening prayer given by L'Aumonier Esther Oschmann and the Pledge of Allegiance recited by all.

All partners are asked to mark their calendars.

Woodall serving at Diego Garcia

DIEGO GARCIA—Navy Hospital Corpsman Third Class Roger D. Woodall of Waveland who joined the Navy in 1982, is currently assigned to an historic "footprint!"

And Woodall, who serves at the U.S. Navy Support Facility on this island also known as the "Footprint" of Freedom," said he's glad to be here.

CORPSMAN WOODALL

Woodall, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Woodall of Waveland, said, "I was excited about coming to Diego Garcia," upon learning of his assignment.

The tiny British Indian Ocean Territory of Diego Garcia is remotely located in the north-central Indian Ocean. It was discovered about the year 1500 by Portuguese explorers, subsequently was claimed by the French, and finally came under British rule in 1814 as a result of the Napoleonic Wars.

Previously used for cobra production, the island today is a hub of activity for U.S. Navy telecommunications oceanographic research, port facilities and logistical support for aircraft carrier battle groups.

Woodall, a 1982 graduate of Bay High School, serves as an operating room technician at Diego Garcia.

"I'm also an X-ray technician, a ward corpsman, emergency room corpsman and a medical evacuation clerk," he said.

"Probably the most important functions I perform are those of keeping the emergency room ready, and being in charge of island medical evacuation procedure."

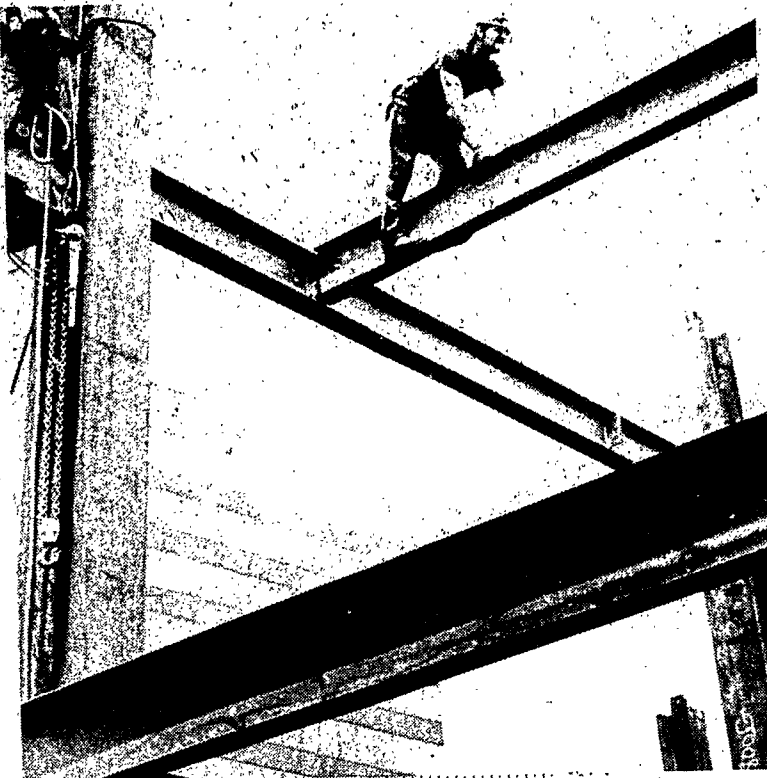

Woodall, who initially joined the Navy for travel and education, today is strongly thinking about reenlistment. His future plans include application for the Navy's transplant technician school.

Navy hospital corpsman assist medical professionals in providing health care to service personnel and their families.

They may function as pharmacy technicians, medical technicians, food service personnel and nurses' aides.

Hospital corpsmen also assist physicians who serve as battlefield medics and serve in other categories of health-related fields.

Woodall is married to the former Ruby Ann Baker who resides with their daughter, three-year-old Vanessa Marie, in Moriarity, N.M.

AMERICA BY DESIGN, a new five-part public television series, tells the story of the people and events that gave shape to America's houses, workplaces, streets, public places and monuments—and the land itself. "The Workplace" traces the changes that have occurred in American Business sites, including the development of modern skyscrapers. "Public Places and Monuments" travels to Washington, D.C., to visit national monuments including the Vietnam Memorial and the Washington Monument. The series airs at 8 p.m., Mondays, beginning Sept. 28, on METV, channel 19.

Milk costs to rise 5 cents per gallon

By Patti Drapala
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Mississippians will pay a nickel more for a gallon of milk this fall because a regional milk shortage has been increased by a government program aimed at cutting a national surplus.

"The consumer is not going to see vacant shelves but the cost of milk is going to rise as handlers have to go farther and farther to buy milk," said Dr. Charles Walden, an economist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

The South typically is plagued by milk shortages in the fall because cows make less milk in summer and milk consumption rises with school openings in fall. In the past milk producers were able to absorb the costs of less production and increased demand.

There are fewer dairy farmers in the state producing milk because of the National Dairy Termination Program (DTP). The program, enacted by Congress in 1986, seeks to reduce a national surplus of milk by offering dairy farmers incentives to get out of dairying.

Mississippi has 173 fewer dairy herds because some state farmers have left dairying.

"The traditional shortage is worse because we have 173 fewer milk producing herds," Walden said. "To meet demand locally, we have to buy from somewhere else."

Producer prices are expected to increase 60 cents per hundredweight, and the cost of buying and shipping milk to Mississippi will be passed on to consumers. Consumers will pay from 5 to 7 cents more per gallon of milk.

"Retail processors cannot absorb the additional cost of milk," Walden said.

Because milk producers have to buy milk out-of-state, money which would have stayed in Mississippi will be spent elsewhere. While the DTP program may take some money away from Mississippi, it allows other state dairy farmers to stay in business because prices are kept at a level where farmers can afford to produce.

"The dairy farmers who are staying in are doing so because they feel they can make adequate profit," Walden said.

Company forms new division, names manager

Charles R. Ramsey, general manager of Bay Technical Associates, Inc., reports formation of the Advanced Systems Division and named retired Coast Guard Captain Phillip J. Kies as division manager.

The Advanced Systems division will develop and manufacture environmental instrumentation and data communications systems for government and military applications.

Captain Kies holds a bachelor of science degree in engineering and political science from the University of the State of New York.

He retired as deputy director of the National Data Buoy Center at NSTL in July.

Kies was commanding officer of the U.S. Coast Guard detachment attached to the NDBC.

Kies is a member of the Marine Technology Society, Institute of Navigation, Naval Institute, IEEE, and the Mississippi Academy of Sciences. The retired Coast Guard captain served 30 years in the Coast Guard and was awarded the Meritorious Service Medal, the USCG and USAF Commendation Medals, and the Vietnam Service Medal, among others.

Kies, a native of Syracuse, NY, resides in Long Beach, with his wife, the former Shirley January of Bay St. Louis, and their two sons, Darren and Darrell.

He is a member of the VFW, manager and head coach of Long Beach Senior Babe Ruth baseball team, past president of the Long Beach High School Baseball Booster Club, and a member of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Federal Administrators Association.

The Advanced Systems division joins the Data Communications Products Division of Bay Saint Louis which develops, manufactures and markets data communications products for the computer industry, and the Tectonics Services Division

A play review

Pieces fall together for Waveland Players' 'California Suite'

BY DENA BISNETTE

All of the pieces have fallen into place with the Waveland Players' current production, "California Suite."

Lady Carver, already familiar to local theatre patrons through her work on previous productions, has outdone herself this time.

Her competent directing brings out the best in her actors, highlighting the subtle comedy of playwright Neil Simon's script with visual gags that are natural rather than contrived.

The play is divided into four scenes that give the audience the perspective of a window-washer eavesdropping on four groups of people occupying a particular hotel suite.

Instead of trying to play all four in the same manner, Carver lets each scene take its own natural pace.

In the first, "Visitor from New York," Susan Stevens portrays Hannah Warren, who has come from New York to meet her ex-husband Bill, played by Carl Danna, to settle a dispute over where their teen-age daughter will live and attend school.

The scene is one of two in the play where the humor is low-key, and Stevens and Danna provide an absolute contrast as two people who have nothing in common except a love for a child from a previous marriage.

Stevens provides a proper and sophisticated portrayal of a woman who releases her bitterness toward her ex-husband by facetiously belittling his new, California lifestyle in high-society language peppered with the occasional unexpected obscenity.

The scene is sophistication vs. simplicity as Danna, playing a health enthusiast who has traded drinking, smoking and similar habits for running and mountain climbing, puts everything into straightforward words.

Unlike Stevens, he has no concern with hiding his tension regarding the dispute over his daughter and does not want to play insulting games with his ex-wife.

None of Danna's words, however, provide as much sincerity in his portrayal of Bill as does his last action in the scene, a hesitation at the door and a silent look exchanged with Stevens.

The next scene, "Visitor from Philadelphia," shifts the tone of the play from poignant to frantic as Ed Scanlan plays a man whose wife catches him with a drunken, unconscious prostitute in his bed. Scanlan, as Marvin, tries to make the best of his situation by lying his way out of it when his wife Millie, played by Sally Rodrigue, arrives already upset because the airline has lost her luggage.

Scanlan's humor is inventive as he tries to keep his wife out of the bedroom, where the hooker is still in the bed.

Some of his funniest sight gags result when he decides his best move would be a sudden attempt to get romantic with Rodrigue in any location other than the bedroom.

Rodrigue acts fittingly bewildered at first, but her best acting occurs when Marvin decides to confess and shows her the comatose lady of the evening.

Rodrigue's anger is more fun than anything else she does in the entire scene because it drips with a sarcasm designed to make any man wilt.

The sleeper here is Catherine Ohman as the prostitute. Although she spends a large part of her time on stage hidden beneath the covers of the bed, her few appearances are surprisingly authentic as she fails to react to being shaken, being picked up under the rib cage and dragged across a room, and having her arm lifted and dropped.

The fourth scene, "Visitors from London," is the tale of Diana, an aging actress who has come to California to attend the Academy Awards, and her husband Sidney.

Nan Ehrbright is exquisite as Diana, becoming a scene-stealer when she returns to the suite in a drunken state after failing to win the best actress award.

Having to compete with Ehrbright for the audience's attention is Don L. George, who portrays Sidney with a frayed dignity as he bickers with a wife he does not really like and tries to be tolerant of her misbehavior.

The play concludes with "Visitors from Chicago," featuring Mike Hamm, Marjorie Thomas-Hall, Carl Danna and Joyce Ohman as two couples who vacation together each year and find that they don't really like each other after an accident on the tennis court.

Danna is enthusiastic as Stu, particularly when the argument becomes physical, while Ohman plays an airheaded Gert who is more interested in perfume than a peaceful vacation.

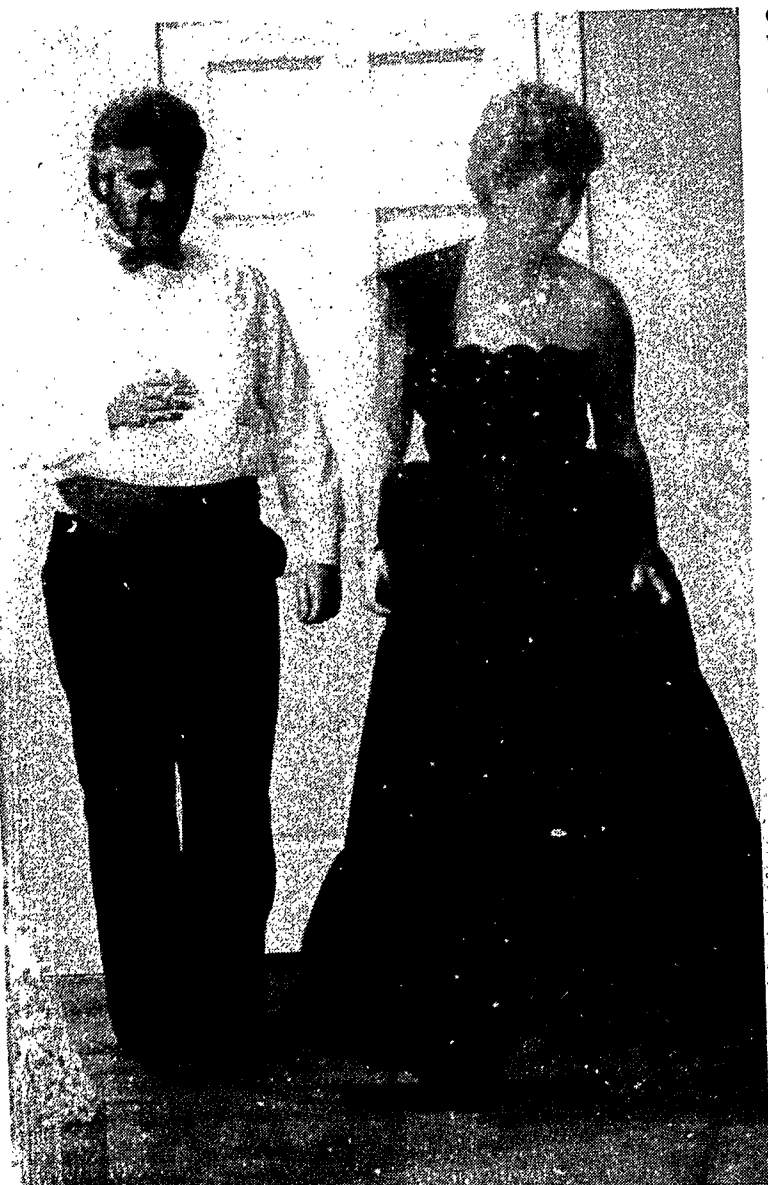

Thomas-Hall is Beth, the only character who seems to realize the foolishness of fighting, and Hamm plays Mort, her husband, really getting into the part only as the argument begins.

All four are funniest during the fight between the two husbands.

The play continues Oct. 2 and 3 with an 8:15 p.m. curtain time each night. Through a cooperative effort of the Waveland Players and the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, it is being presented at the Bay Little Theatre's Boardman Avenue playhouse.

If "California Suite" is an example of a cooperative effort between the two groups, the public should ask for more.

Tickets are $4 each at the door and more information is available at 467-5372.

George, playing Sidney Nichols, looks on as Nan Ehrbright, playing actress Diana Nichols, criticizes the gown she has purchased to wear at the Academy Awards presentation in a scene from the Waveland Players' current production, "California Suite." RAISING THE ROOF

"This Old House" raises the roof on its new fall season on Mississippi ETV this month. The new 26-week series for homeowners, rehabbers and do-it-yourselfers can be seen at 1:30 p.m., Saturdays, beginning Oct. 3.

America's favorite home improvement experts, host Bob Vila and master carpenter Norm Abram, return to offer constructive advice on home remodeling and renovation on two new projects this year: restoring an 18th century Massachusetts farmhouse to its original early American charm and renovating a Southern California Craftsman-style bungalow.

CARL SAGAN, president of the Planetary Society, is among the American scientists, engineers, and astronauts discussing the possibility of joint U.S./Soviet missions to Mars in "Together to Mars?" (right) Dr. Joseph Kerwin, Skylab astronaut/physician. The program documents the historic 'Spacebridge' held July 18, 1987 that linked American and Soviet space experts in an intriguing exchange of science, philosophy and politics. The program airs Oct. 7, 10 p.m. on Mississippi ETV.

Mississippi projects win committee approval

WASHINGTON, DC—Funding for Mississippi flood control and port development projects totaling over $70 million are included in a bill that has won approval of the U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee chaired by Senator John Stennis.

Stennis said the amount includes $6 million for continued construction on the Sowash Creek flood control project at Meridian along with $900,000 to continue study and planning work on the proposed Shoccoe Dam project designed to relieve flooding at Jackson.

Additional funding is provided for port improvement projects at Gulfport, $800,000; Pascagoula, $900,000; and Vicksburg, $250,000. Stennis said the port projects are now in the planning and design stages and are aimed at enhancing navigation at the harbors through deepening and widening of the harbor channels.

"These flood control and harbor improvement projects are extremely important to our state, and this funding will enable the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to move ahead toward solutions to the problems that exist," Stennis said.

The Mississippi Senator said key projects in the bill include $10.3 million for flood control on the upper Yazoo River; $8.9 million for flood control on Yazoo basin tributaries; $5.3 million for demonstration erosion control projects; $2.4 million for flood control on the Big Sunflower River; $2.8 million for work on Sardis Dam; $1.75 million to develop plans for the Yazoo backwater pumping plant and $4.2 million for work along the Tombigbee River and tributaries.

Heart attack in progress to be shown on ETV

Dramatic footage of emergency room treatment of a heart attack victim is featured in the second broadcast in the four-part public television series, The Health Century.

It airs over the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) Monday, Sept. 28, at 10 p.m.

"Equally dramatic is live footage of an operation on the heart of a 15-month-old boy led by Dr. John Kirklin at the hospital of the University of Alabama at Birmingham.

Kirklin, who performed one of the first successful open heart operations using the heart-lung machine in 1955, shares his recollections as he performs the delicate surgery.

The series marks the Centennial of the National Institutes of Health (NIH).

Dr. Kirklin marvels at the medical advances of an era—one of the themes of The Health Century—saying: "In those early days when we talked to the parents of a child we said, 'well, we think the risk of the condition is greater than the risk of having it repaired,' and I kept asking myself, 'I wonder if I really know that?' Nowadays, I really know it."

Before the invention of the heart-lung machine, open heart surgery—now a medical commonplace—was impossible.

The second program in The Health Century is the story of medicine's onslaught against three chronic killers: heart disease, diabetes, and brain disorders.

Arthur Zobrist, whose heart attack treatment was filmed for The Health Century, suffered no lasting damage from the blow thanks to a new experimental drug, t-PA, which binds to the blood clots responsible for heart attacks, dissolving them without causing bleeding elsewhere in the body. It must be administered within hours of the attack to be effective. Mr. Zobrist was treated at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis where Dr. Burton Sobel and colleagues were among the first to use the new drug in America.

Stormie Jones, now a healthy 11-year-old living in Ft. Worth, Texas, would not be alive today had she not been given a simultaneous heart and liver transplant. Genetic research had led doctors to the discovery that Stormie's liver lacked the gene to produce the chemical that removes cholesterol from the bloodstream.

Because of this condition, at age six she suffered her first heart attack. Another heart attack and two bypass operations later, her prognosis was terminal.

Stormie's treatment is an example of how the pathways of medical research have converged in The Health Century. Genetic research led to the decision to replace her liver.

Without the heart-lung machine, her transplant would have been impossible. Knowledge of immunology helped develop the medicine to prevent her body from rejecting her new heart and liver as foreign bodies.

And molecular biology helped give her the cholesterol lowering drug she still needs to remain healthy.

The story of Stormie Jones features her mother, Susie Purcell, and her doctors, David Bilheimer and transplant surgeon Tom Starzl (in Pittsburgh). She was the first person to survive such an operation.

Nobel laureates doctors Joseph Goldstein and Michael Brown, who discovered cholesterol's genetic linkage, are also interviewed.

Period footage helps tell the story of insulin-dependent juvenile diabetes patient Teddy Ryder, a native of Hartford, Connecticut. Ryder, who is now seventy-two, became, at age seven, one of the first diabetics to be treated with insulin.

He journeyed to Toronto, Canada after his parents made a special plea to the drug's discoverers, Doctors Frederick Banting and Charles Best, to set aside some of the not-yet commercially available drug for their boy.

Ryder, who was treated by Banting, himself, and appears with the doctor in historical footage, tells how he became a milestone in medical history in an interview for The Health Century. Prior to the discovery of insulin, juvenile diabetes was fatal. Ryder is believed to have taken insulin longer than any other person.

But insulin treats the symptoms of diabetes, not the cause. Diabetes destroys the body's natural insulin-producing ability. Doctors Calvin Stiller and John Dupre of the University of Western Ontario in London, Ontario, are experimenting with a drug which may prevent destruction of the diabetic's insulin-producing cells.

Doctors Paul Lacy and David Scharp of Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri are conducting trials in the transplantation of insulin-producing islet cells from heaty donors to diabetics. Nobel laureate Dr. Julius Axelrod of the National Institute of Mental Health is the focus of the report on advances against brain disorders in The Health Century.

For fifty years a neuropharmacologist, Dr. Axelrod is uniquely familiar with the work that brought about many of the advances in drug treatment of diseases such as schizophrenia and manic depression.

Dr. Solomon Snyder of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland, and Dr. Michael Brownstein of the National Institute of Mental Health are interviewed, and in a never-before-photographed operation for Parkinson's disease, neurosurgeon George Allen of Vanderbilt University transplants dopamine-producing tissue into the brain.

The Health Century is produced by the Blackwell Corporation, a leading independent supplier of programming for PBS. David Roland, executive vice president of The Blackwell Corporation, is series producer. Program Two was written and produced by Judy Towers Reemtsma.

THE HEALTH CENTURY—Dr. Michael Brown, left, and Dr. Joseph Goldstein, Nobel laureates, discovered that lipid metabolism is under genetic control. The appear in Program Two of The Health Century, airing over PBS Monday at 10 p.m., METV, Ch. 19, Biloxi.

Mabus tours Coast

BILOXI—Ray Mabus promoted his priorities of education and economic development on a campaign swing through the Mississippi Gulf Coast Thursday.

The swing included stops at area schools; Triton Systems, Inc.; the Port of Gulfport and a joint appearance with his Republican opponent at the annual meeting of the Mississippi Public Health Association.

The Democratic gubernatorial nominee told students at the Nichols Middle School in Biloxi that, "Improved education must be the first step. We lead the nation in passing the Education Reform Act of 1982, but now we must take the next step."

Mabus continued, "Since I announced by candidacy in February, I have said that education is the foundation for a better future and must be funded on the first day of every legislative session. We can fund it, from pre-school to graduate school, without a tax increase by making government more efficient and cracking down on corruption."

His education proposals include specific recommendations to raise teachers salaries, improved educational funding for all districts without penalizing any district, launch a statewide adult literacy program and fully fund all universities and colleges.

Speaking before the Mississippi Public Health Association annual meeting in Biloxi, Mabus told the group, "Drug abuse is a serious problem in Mississippi. State government must institute programs to educate those that are vulnerable to drug use."

The Choctaw County native also toured the Port of Gulfport and used the tour to re-emphasize his economic development initiatives. "We've got to go out and sell Mississippi to this country and the world, but at the same time, we've got to encourage home-grown businesses. What we need is a coordinated statewide economic development plan that takes into account our state's assets, like this deep-water port and other navigable Mississippi waterways."

CANTON—The Canton Flea Market Arts & Crafts Show will be held Thursday, Oct. 8. The event will take place on the downtown court Square in Canton. Over 400 superior artists and craftsmen from approximately 20 states will offer their works for sale.

ETV Briefs
GILBERT & SULLIVAN Gilbert and Sullivan operettas will air on Mississippi ETV on successive Sunday afternoons.

"The Complete Gilbert and Sullivan" series by "H.M.S. Pinafore" on the 27th and "Princess Ida" on Oct. 4. Peter Marshall and Frankie Howard star in "H.M.S. Pinafore."

But insulin treats the symptoms of diabetes, not the cause. Diabetes destroys the body's natural insulin-producing ability. Doctors Calvin Stiller and John Dupre of the University of Western Ontario in London, Ontario, are experimenting with a drug which may prevent destruction of the diabetic's insulin-producing cells.
